ps1: due in 4 weeks (sep30)

[version: Tuesday 7th October, 2025 11:33]

1. write paper introduction and much of theory and lit rev, and ideally at least some quant (again i can help!) (at very least some des stats) based on covered material and building on my comments on your ps0

2. as always, do have inline response to ALL my comments on previous ps, (ps0), including those in writing, and verbal ones [i'll try to keep track of those too and substract points if you dont respond]

3. again, in addition to assigned readings, dont forget about doing your own lit rev! whatever you study, just put that and 'happiness' into goog sch and do lit rev! eg for libraries: `https://scholar.google.com/scholar?hl=en&as_sdt=0%2C31&q=libraries+and+happiness&btnG=` then may adjust query, say `https://scholar.google.com/scholar?hl=en&as_sdt=0%2C31&q=reading+books+and+lhappiness&btnG=` or: `https://scholar.google.com/scholar?hl=en&as_sdt=0%2C31&q=public+space+and+happiness&btnG=` lit rev takes time, and is necessary, start now!

4. along with the writeup do submit the code! (dofile, R code, Python code, etc) AND dataset OR give exact link to the dataset and its decription so i can download it

5. ideally latex or google doc link; or may submit as txt or pdf into Canvas again, pls remember inline response `https://theaok.github.io/swb/final_project.pdf`: "inline response" do get this going! it's going to take time–a merely beefed up outline from ps0 for ps1 won't do it–ps1 must be actual draft of a paper with much meat in it and some actual findings!

due in several weeks but do start working on it now–it will take time, you cant do it in couple days; and we should meet one-on-one several times to get this going properly
